COURT PLAN SCORED IN REPORT NEW STRIKES ARE CALLED BY LEWIS

COAL MINERS HAVE BEEN ORDERED QUIT
WORK BY CIO HEAD
IN THIS WAY LEWIS HOPES
BRING BETHLEHEM STEEL
INTO SUBMISSION

By The Associated Press.
JOHNSTOWN, Pa., June 14.—(P)—With the battle cry, "They can't make steel without coal!" an army of 10,131 coal miners in Pennsylvania and West Virginia were called out on strike today by John L. Lewis' C. I. O. in a new drive to wring signed labor contracts from independent steel companies.

In Washington, shaggy-browed Lewis claimed the strike was "100 per cent effective" in coal mines of Republic and Bethlehem Steel corporations.

At the same time, in Chicago, a projected nation-wide embargo on shipment of coal to the strike harassed steel companies by all mines dug by C. I. O. men was announced by an A. Bittner, militant C. I. O. leader.

Another predicted 600,000 United Mine Workers of America may be affected by Saturday.

Nineteen so-called "captive" or company-operated mines, owned by the steel companies, were affected by Lewis' order.

Tension Taught

As the grim workers came out of the ground to stay, tension remained taut on the wide front of the nation's labor troubles.

Steel-helmeted state troopers trod a 7-mile beat on the strike-beset Cambria works of Bethlehem Steel corporation in Johnstown. It was quiet here, after a vicious flurry yesterday when five men were slightly injured, but there were fears it would not remain calm.

The Canton, O., Federation of Labor, representing 15,000 varied craftsmen in the city, threatened to call them all away from their jobs if picket lines at Republic Steel corporation's plants there were broken.

The troubled Newton Steel com-

Amelia Earhart
Continues Flight
Around the World

MASSAWA, Eritrea, June 14.—(P)—Amelia Earhart, who is flying around the world "just for fun," hopped off at 7:30 a. m. (11:30 P. M., E. S. T. Sunday night) for Assab, Eritrea, en route to Aden, at the southwestern tip of Arabia.

Before she lifted her silver monoplane off the runway of Otmbo airport, just outside the capital of this Italian colony, she said she would attempt to fly non-stop to Karachi, India, if weather conditions were good.

She landed at 2:24 p. m. yesterday from Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan, to be welcomed by aviation officials after her 450-mile flight.

Aden lies across the red sea 400 miles from Massawa while Karachi lies 1,600 miles beyond. Her course to Karachi from Aden probably would skirt the deserts and mountains of the Arabian coast and then point northeast over the sea.

PRECAUTIONS URGED TO PREVENT SPREAD
INFANTILE PARALYSIS

PHYSICIANS ASSERT CONDI-TIONS HERE NOT ALARM-ING AT PRESENT

Definite precautions to reduce possible spread of infantile paralysis infection were advanced Monday by Drs. William T. Shell, Jr., and S. H. Burnett, health officers for the city and county respectively, after five cases of the disease had been reported in the county, three in Corsicana and two at Barry, with one death attributed to the ailment.

Upon the recommendations of physicians, the annual outing for Camp Fire girls at Camp Wanita, scheduled to start Monday morning, was cancelled by officials in charge. Everything was in readiness for the event with food supplies moved in, adult attendants on hand, and supper had even been prepared for the counselors when the decision was reached. The campers were to have had the use of new cottages, roads had been graded, and a record enrollment was ready to move into camp Monday.

Hospitals, doctors' offices, and the Daily Sun office were flooded with telephone calls Monday morning because of the outbreak of infantile paralysis in recent days.

Conditions were not alarming but that precautions should be taken to prevent them reaching this stage.

People were advised to stay away from mass gatherings of all kinds, and to observe general cleanliness and hygienic measures carefully.

Symptoms of the disease were reported to include stiff stomach, running fever, pains in neck and limb, loss of appetite. Fever continues from two hours to a week (average 3 or 4 days) then the paralysis locates in specific parts of the body after fever goes away.

The disease is most virulent among children between ages of two and 10 or 15 years, but cases have been known among adults.

Local health officials conferred with State Health Department officials specializing in this disease.

Three persons were fatally injured in an automobile crash near Brownfield. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Morrison and their three-year-old granddaughter were the victims. Mrs. Jimmie Slaton, mother of the child, was critically injured. All were from Paris.

Mrs. J. R. Wright of College Station and Mrs. N. A. Vincent of Fort Worth were killed and six others injured in an automobile collision near Groesbeck. Miss Sadie Smith was fatally injured in an automobile collision near Beaumont. Cecil Chapman was fatally injured when he fell from a truck at Burkburnett and was thrown under the bus. The truck was moving on a trailer.

An 87-year-old resident of Forney, Mrs. C. W. Robinson, died in a Cleburne hospital last night from injuries received in a traffic collision near Joshua.

Martin Boatright died in injuries when his motorcycle collided with an automobile in Dallas.

Joe Bednar of Dallas was killed when a truck overturned.

Roy Williamson, Dallas baker, was found fatally wounded at the home of relatives at Terrell.

Jess Morrison was shot to death while in the way to Vernon from his home in Odell with a deputy sheriff.

Robert Jackson of Pres-

ACTION PROMISED

DELINQUENT TAXES
COMMISSIONERS INFORMED
SUITS WOULD BE FILED
AND PRESSED

"You will get action this summer," J. C. Jacobs, assistant criminal district attorney, advised the commissioners' court Monday morning with reference to the proposed delinquent tax suits due on the collection of delinquent taxes due the county.

The county is faced with the alternative, officials point out, of payment of delinquent taxes as due by the citizenship of the county or the going on of the "script" basis for claims and salaries of the county.

Mr. Jacobs advised the court that beginning the first of July, the criminal district attorney's office would spend much of its time in the filing, prosecuting, etc. of delinquent tax suits due the county.

The court authorized the redemption of $4,000 bonds due in Road District No. 4, Frost, due July 10, 1937, and $2,000 bonds due in Road District No. 5, Dawson, on the same date.

It was stated at the court Monday that the City of Corsicana had taken over the sponsorship of the relief administration in the place of the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber of Commerce had sponsored the

HOUSE APPROVED
RESOLUTION FOR TRUCK EXEMPTIONS

ASKS ALLRED PERMIT PASS-AGE OF BILL IN MERCHANT-OWNED VEHICLES

AUSTIN, June 14.—(P)—The house quickly and overwhelmingly approved a resolution today requesting Governor James V. Allred to permit the legislature to pass a bill exempting merchant owned trucks from contract carrier restrictions.

During special sessions, the legislature can consider only matters submitted by the governor. Allred so far had limited the law to anti-hoarding regulations but had strongly advocated he would submit other subjects. The session may continue for 11 days longer if the legislature desires.

A bill removing contract carrier restrictions from trucks used by merchants to deliver their goods was passed at the regular session but Allred vetoed it. The house voted to override the veto but the senate refused to override by three votes.

The house shot the resolution to the senate, 99 to 11, notwithstanding statements of spokesmen for the minority that sponsors wanted a privileged status for merchants charging for delivery of their goods.

Hogging Highways.
Backers of the resolution charged that railroads and large commercial carrier truck lines were trying to "hog the highways."

They expressed concern lest enforcement officers sought to require merchants to obtain contract carrier permits after the legislature adjourned.

DEVELOPMENT OF NEWSPRINT
PRODUCTION IN SOUTH LAUDED
BY PRESIDENT OF PUBLISHERS

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 14.—(P)—J. G. Stahlman, president of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association and publisher of the Nashville, Tenn., Banner, said today that development of newsprint production in Southern states is the answer to "many economic and social problems."

Commenting on an announcement by Gov. Richard W. Leeche of Louisiana that a contract has been signed for construction of a paper mill at Spring Hill, La., the Nashville publisher said:

"In so far as the cost of acquiring land and settling damage will increase as the basin is developed, it should now be undertaken," he said.

General Markham said there was a possibility of a flood which might exceed any on record, and added that "the Denison reservoir would prevent such a flood from reaching disastrous proportions in the valley below."

Augmented by hundreds of volunteer rescue workers, a group of state police patrolled the town throughout the night after it was plunged into darkness by a break in electric current caused by the windstorm.

FRANCO'S TROOPS SWARM

RING AND ENTER CITY

By EDWARD J. NEIL
AT BILBAO'S OUT-
SKIRTS, June 14.—(P)—The insurgent advance guard pressed on the heels of retreating Basques into the outskirts of long beleaguered Bilbao today and began raking the streets with rifle fire from the scattered houses which they occupied.

Generalissimo Franco's sun-blacked shock troops spread out fanwise through the openings they cracked in the Basque capital's "iron ring" defenses, swarmed over the pine-covered hillsides two hours before sunset Sunday, and carried their red and yellow flag to the city's edge.

Franco, chief of the insurgent regime, was in personal command of the final stages of the campaign planned by his dead aide, Gen. Emilio Mola, whose death in an airplane crash several days ago had momentarily slowed up the mold-breaking drive to reduce the northern port, one of Spain's greatest industrial cities.

Up-to-date troops were slowly working their way forward through the industrial outskirts of the suburban centers of Zaramaga, Bermeudo, and Dureo.

Bilbao Looks Dead

The factory smoke stacks were cold and from my vantage point on the mountain of the Castle, at the city's edge, Bilbao looked dead-breatheless and silent.

The morale of the Basques was apparently breaking and their capital seemingly being given up for lost.

Many of Bilbao's refugee-swollen population of 300,000 were reported by scouts of the advance guard to be moving westward. The roads were said to be jammed with refugees again seeking a haven.

FIXED-HOUR, FIVE DOLLAR WORKING DAY
FOR OIL INDUSTRY

THIS IS SOLUTION OFFERED
IN WAGE-HOUR PROGRAM
BY OKLAHOMA

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—Representative Borden (D-Okl.) advocated today a fixed-hour, $5 working day to "solve the labor problem of the oil industry."

He told joint congressional committee considering the administration wage and hour bill that about 70 per cent of all oil companies already were observing such standards, and that his proposal would "cause no change in the working day obligation."

The wage debt installments from European countries fall due tomorrow. They total $1,500,000,000.

Besides Italy, Latvia and Yugoslavia already have defaulted.

Recent experiments in France and Great Britain, the largest debtors of hope that something might be done soon about a possible settlement of the war debt problem have not followed as yet by any official action.

The United States has voted its willingness to consider any refunding proposal.

Of tomorrow's total bill, $250,375,400 the regular semi-annual installment and $1,314,821,100 rep-

BLISTERING WORDS
USED BY JUDICIARY
SENATE COMMITTEE

BILL BRANDED AS NEEDLESS, FUTILE AND UTTERLY DANGEROUS

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P)—The senate judiciary committee recommended rejection of the Roosevelt court bill in blistering language today, branding it "a needless, futile, and utterly dangerous abandonment of constitutional principle."

It should be so emphatically rejected that its parallel will never again be presented to the free representatives of the free people of America," said the report, signed by seven Democrats and three Republicans.

The 10,000-word report echoed virtually all the objections raised to the measure in seven weeks of hearings.

It said the bill would not accomplish its purpose, would do little to aid the independence of the judiciary and would make the government the master of men rather than of law."

"It contains," the majority said, "the germ of a system of centralized administration of law that would enable an executive so minded to send his judges into every judicial district in the land to sit in judgment on controversies between the government and the citizen."

As the controversial measure finally reached the senate after more than four months of nationwide debate, administration said and they virtually had abandoned its proposal for adding new judges to the supreme court at once.

Trying Work Out Compromise.
They were trying instead to work out a compromise whereby elderly justices could be augmented or replaced at the rate of one a year. Opponents, however, declared they would filibuster against any modified proposal.

Submission of the committee's report made it possible to call up the bill for debate at any time, but leaders gave no indication when they might do so. They were expected to wait at least until the senate passes the relief bill.

The eight members of the judiciary committee who voted for the bill did not submit a minority report.

Those who signed the majority report were King, Utah; McCarran, Nevada; Van Nuys, Indiana; Hatch, New Mexico; Burke, Nebraska; Connally, Texas; O'Mahoney, Wyoming; all Democrats; Borah, Idaho; Austin, Vermont; and Stedman, Oregon, Republicans.

Those who voted to support the bill favorably were Neely, West Virginia; Logan, Kentucky; Dethrich, Illinois; McGinn, Kansas; Pittman, Nevada; Hughes, Delaware, and Ashurst, Arizona, all Democrats and Norris, Nebraska, independent.

Hatch Makes Statement.
Senator Hatch (D-N.M.) signed the majority report but said in a separate statement that the arguments were against the bill in its present form.

"It has been my thought," he said, "that a measure can be met by proper amendments to the bill; that with sufficient safeguards, it can be made a constructive piece of legislation."

Never before has a Roosevelt bill come from committee with

NINE WOUNDED BY SHOTGUN BLAST IN ANDERSON RIOTING

FIGHT BETWEEN UNION AND NON-UNION AUTO WORKERS IN INDIANA

ANDERSON, Ind., June 14.—(P) Street rioting between union and non-union automobile workers, climaxed by a sudden "tan" from a shotgun in the hands of an unarmed man, left nine wounded and an undetermined number of others injured here today.

Within a few hours, police arrested nine men, including six of the gunfire victims, but later released them on their own recognition after lengthy questioning.

None of the men struck by shotgun slugs was wounded seriously and all were released from a local hospital after receiving treatment.

City officials at Anderson hastily convened in an effort to prevent further disturbances.

Police and guards of the Delco-Remy and guide lamp factories here, both General Motors units, where the participants in the street battle are employed, threw a heavy guard around the plants early today to forestall further violence.

Leaders of the UAWA local said non-union men gathered near the union hall attacked a group carrying amplifying equipment to the park for Martin's address.

Suddenly, Police Chief Joseph Carray said, a man appeared in a window on the third floor of the building and fired a shotgun into the group of approximately 300 persons in the street below.

NATIONWIDE STUDY UNEMPLOYMENT AND RELIEF APPROVED

SENATE VOTES FOR PLAN UNDER COMMISSION TO BE NAMED BY PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(P) The Senate approved today a proposed nationwide study of unemployment and relief by a commission to be appointed by the president.

The action, taken without a record vote, came shortly after the appropriations committee had recommended to the Senate that a greater share of the administration's $1,500,000,000 relief program for the next fiscal year be shifted to local communities.

The Senate vote would be in addition to an inquiry by a committee of five senators, which was authorized last week.

The proposal now goes to the House.

The national unemployment and relief commission, proposed in a resolution by Senators Hatch (D-N.M.) and Murray (D-Mont.) would include from five to 15 members who would serve without pay.

The group would "conduct a national study of the whole problem of unemployment and relief, and to recommend steps looking to a comprehensive, intelligent, and just policy for the future."

The resolution would permit up to $50,000 of relief funds to be used for expenses.

Hatch contended the commission's study was needed as well as the Senate inquiry. The Senate's group, which has not started work, is headed by Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.), a leader of economy forces.

CARRIERS DISPUTED PROVISION.

The revised $1,500,000,000 measure carried a disputed provision that after September 30, state and other governments should meet 40 per cent of the cost of Works Progress Administration local projects, instead of the present average of about 16 per cent. If they were unable to meet the requirements, President Roosevelt would be empowered, as at present to fix the percentage of the contribution.

The committee added to the bill an amendment by Senator Hayden (D-Ariz.) to extend the Public

A bill for the repairs of the roof of the county court house was again held up and not paid. County Judge Paul H. Miller reported that approximately fifteen leaks had been noted.

The report of the P. & S. Hospital, county institution, for the month of May as made to the court showed the outstanding debts of that institution had been reduced to $885. The debt of the hospital three months ago was slightly below $2,000. County Judge Miller complimented the county hospital board and Superintendent Edna Benson on the manner in which the affairs are being conducted.

County Judge Miller and County Auditor J. M. Tullos were authorized to borrow $5,000 for the general fund.

Commissioners T. P. Hayes made a motion for a supplemental budget for his precinct to pay approximately $2,000 outstanding bills and the motion was seconded by Commissioner J. N. George. Judge Miller stated he did not believe the request came within the meaning of the emergency budget statute and the question was not put to a vote, although a round-table discussion was held. It was brought out that the same conditions existed as were apparent several months ago in precinct 2 when a similar request was turned down.

The proposal now goes to the House.

Soviets Execute Twenty-Eight In Internal Purge

MOSCOW, June 14.—(P) Twenty-eight persons have been convicted and executed at Slobodny, in the Soviet Far East, for wrecking the Amur railroad, it became known today.

These executions increase to 151 the known total of persons condemned and shot during the last year in the Soviet government's drive to stamp out all its internal foes.

The charges against these alleged "wreckers" were similar to those made in three previous trials in the Far East, at Slobodny and at Khabarovsk.

These trials already had resulted in 66 executions. All the condemned were accused of being participants in the Trotskyist, Japanese spy and terror organization which allegedly acted along the Amur railroad.

News of the newest Far Eastern executions came on the heels of the conviction and shooting of eight red army generals, once the cleverest and most courageous fighters in the world. They were executed Saturday for treason, accused of selling out their comrades to Nazi Germany.

This case apparently had no direct connection with the Far Eastern trials, except that all reflected the Soviet's grim determination to wipe out opposition on every front.

WAGES, HOURS

Boren's proposal would establish a far higher level of wages and hours in the oil industry than most committee witnesses have suggested for industry as a whole.

The plan most frequently discussed during the ten-day hearing called for a 40-hour work week and a $16 minimum wage.

The youthful Oklahoma congressman said his proposal already had proved successful in the main oil fields, and that it would cause no hardships if applied with flexibility sufficient to meet emergencies.

Insurgent Planes Raid Basque Capital

BILBAO, Spain, June 14.—(P) Low-flying insurgent war planes from the besieging armada that have pressed into Bilbao's edges raided the center of this Basque capital in mid-morning today, splitting machine gun fire.

The people of this "Pittsburgh of Spain," besieged almost since the start of the insurgent northern offensive early in April, fled for shelter as the planes dived and circled.

Defense anti-aircraft guns pumped shells into the sky.

Heavy bombing operations over this tightly packed industrial area (insurgents reported they already had taken some houses in Bilbao's actual outskirts) made evacuation of the wounded a grave problem.

The road northwest to Santander was under heavy attack from the air, with 23 persons reported killed in one sector. This was virtually the only land artery of escape for the Bilbao population.

On the whole, however, Bilbao was stoical in the face of the constant attacks from the sky.

Crouched in makeshift refuges, much of the civil population heard bullets spatter against walls and in streets—determined to hold on to the last.

The Basque government of President Jose Antonio Aguirre, steadfast ally of the Central Spanish government, flatly denied reports that some of its members had fled to Santander. No surrender is contemplated, the Basque officials said.

New Investigation From Oil Industry

AUSTIN, June 14.—(P) The Texas oil industry again will come under the scrutiny of legislative investigators.

Acting at a noisy session at which sergeant-at-arms several times were called on to seat members, the house of representatives today authorized a special committee to inquire into allegations "hot oil" was being run and other illegal practices were taking place.

Hot oil is crude produced in violation of the conservation statutes and orders promulgated by the railroad commission under such laws.

Two years ago the commission conducted an investigation and reported numerous law violations but said conditions had improved. Sponsors of the now inquiry said in effect they wanted to complete the work of the old.

Critics objected it was a waste of time and money.

Vote on the resolution was 60 to 55.

An amendment prohibiting the committees from making any recommendations as to candidates for political office was thrown out on a point of order.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission, administrator of conservation laws and Attorney General William McCraw, whose department also was much to do with their enforcement, were mentioned as probable gubernatorial candidates.

They denied insurgent assertions that Generalissimo Franco's troops were entering the city. The insurgents, they said, are several miles from Bilbao's proper.

LIQUOR ENFORCEMENT OFFICER BE LOCATED IN CITY CORSICANA

EIGHTY-THREE CITIES AND TOWNS WILL HAVE STATE AID IN MATTER

AUSTIN, June 11.—(P)—State liquor enforcement officers will be stationed regularly in 83 cities and towns under a new enforcement plan effective June 15.

C. A. Paxton, chief enforcement officer, said the regular officers would be supplemented by a mobile group to aid them in enforcement and prosecution whenever needed.

He said concentration of officers at district headquarters was not the system best suited to a state the size of Texas and, although district offices will be continued, the plan will be reduced and the men spread to towns and cities within the districts.

The new assignments with the number of men assigned to each city, headquarters being the first mentioned, were:

Amarillo (2), Wellington (2), and Pampa (2).

Lubbock (2), Farwell, Plainview and Matador (1 each).

Wichita Falls (2), Graham, Childress and Haskell (1 each).

Kerens Vacation Bible School Has Large Attendance

KERENS, June 12.—(Spl.)—The enrollment of the Daily Vacation Bible school of the Kerens Baptist church had reached 137, and the present outlook is that it will be the biggest and most successful school ever held over here, with workers and students from all the churches taking part.

An outstanding feature of the week was the Japanese tea given for the Junior department Friday morning on the church balcony, which was decorated with Japanese lanterns. Mrs. Albert Berry dressed in native costume acted as hostess and in her story for the day told the children about Japanese manners and customs.

Following the story the hostess assisted by Elinor Norton, Dixie Lee, Spurlock, and Betty Paschal, dressed as Japanese maid-servants.

POLICY ANNOUNCED BY INTERSTATE ON BANK NIGHT RULING

The Interstate Circuit, Inc., to clarify its policy on the bank night situation, through its president, Karl Hoblitzelle, issued the following statement:

We desire to clarify our Bank Night policy in the light of the recent court decision at Austin. It goes without saying that we respect the law as finally interpreted by the highest court.

There are, however, two things which must be understood:

1. That the decision is not yet final, as the losing party has a right to rehearing, which we understand will be diligently pressed.

2. That decision, in any case, will simply decide whether the bank night operation as conducted in Bonham, Texas, was a violation of the state law. It did not decide the issue only.

The action of any man or institution is determined only on the basis of what that particular man or institution is doing, and not on the basis of what somebody else did in another territory. The court opinion shows, on its face, that certain conditions existed in that case which do not exist in our operations.

We are advised of the above two points by legal counsel. We also understand that public sentiment is overwhelmingly in favor of bank night as operated by us. We therefore feel that until the matter is finally clarified hastily in the discontinuance of our Bank Night.

Commissioners Court The regular meeting of the commissioners court will be held Monday morning.

County Clerk's Office The following cases were filed:

Mrs. Leslie C. Hill, et al., to R. F. Shaw, et al., suit on note.

W. H. Chapman, beer application.

Oil and Gas Lease E. E. Rash, et al., to Byron Cheyney, 50.58 acres of the Iredell Redding survey, $10.

Marriage License Bayron Lindsey and Mary N. Perry.

TAX CHEATERS

Some small taxpayers may regard with admiration or envy the artful dodges of some wealthy evaders, as lately revealed. But with the generality of citizens the reaction is one of disgust.

It is not sporting. It is not fair to other taxpayers. It is not good citizenship. It is not excused by the fact that the evaders may disapprove of the way the tax money is spent. So popular condemnation, not to mention governmental action, can probably be relied on to discourage this sort of thing before it spreads and infects the whole body of taxpayers.

The first principle of taxation, anyway, is ability to pay. This is right not only because the wealthy have the wherewithal, but because government does more for the rich than it does for the poor—establishing and maintaining the social machinery, the law and order, which enables them to operate and acquire wealth and hold it.

A natural effect, in the long run, of a general strike against taxes by rich citizens would be destructive of the private capitalism whereby they have got their riches.

WANTING IT BOTH WAYS

Economy is usually something for the other fellow to practice.

Congressmen have been flooded lately with letters on this subject. One day, says a Washington reporter, letters pour in from business organizations and individuals demanding drastic economy to get the budget balanced and save the country from runaway inflation.
And the next day letters pour in from the same people or others like them, demanding public buildings and federal relief projects in their vicinity, or opposing the abolition of costly branches of government activity. And it is about the same with state and local affairs.

Sometimes this self-contradictory position will be taken in the same letter.
In such case, what is a poor lawmaker to do?

Generally speaking, there is always more popular demand for spending than for retrenchment, because beneficiaries of spending are more vocal and better organized than the advocates of thrift.

BRITISH AND IRISH DEBTS

President De Valera of the Irish Free State, who seems to take a malicious pleasure in baiting John Bull, put over a neat one the other day.

The British government has been demanding that the Free State pay regularly the 5,000,000 pounds of land annuities due under the old settlement by which great estates owned by British landlords were divided up among the Irish peasants.

To pay that debt, incurred before the existence of the Irish Free State, said De Valera, would take 18.6 per cent of the Irish national revenue, an impossible amount to pay. How, he asked, can Britain expect Ireland to pay that huge percentage on a dead horse, when Britain herself refuses to pay her agreed installments on her debt to the United States, though it is only 4.3 per cent of Britain's income?

To that question the British cabinet doesn't seem to have any ready answer.

JUST FOLKS

(Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

AT THE CLOSE
I dreaded to go in. They'd told me Soon his eyes would close forever.
This the last time he'd behold me;
He could see me now—or never.
And I questioned, "Does he know
"it?" They answered, "Knows it plainly.
If he fears, he doesn't show it.
He will smile on you, though vainly."

So I entered, softly treading
To the bed where he was lying,
The stronger, filled with dreading.
He the weaker, bravely dying.
Then a glorious smile he gave me.
When he saw my tears were starting,
And I know 'twas meant to save me
From the bitterness of parting.

TAXPAYERS AND LAWYERS.

Maybe the bar, as well as the President, should take a hand in this federal tax evasion business. Some citizens who make out their own income tax reports according to the spirit of the law, and pay them, are beginning to suggest it.

Take such an interesting case as the wealthy citizen who incorporated his magnificent yacht, and then charged all its expenses for upkeep and operation to the yacht itself, thereby showing a net loss to the yacht and saving $50,000 for himself. Or the case of the millionaire manufacturer who ran a wonderful chicken farm for the fun of it, and naturally lost money thereby, and cheerfully charged off a $125,000 chicken loss against his manufacturing profits. Or the ingenious taxpayers, said to be rather numerous, who dodge taxes by incorporation in neighboring countries and by creating personal holding corporations. One taxpayer is said to have saved $485,000 a year by creating 64 trusts for four members of his family, getting lower bracket rates by splitting the income.

It is safe to assume that most of such cases are thought out by the taxeaving gentlemen's attorneys. With all due regard for the legal profession, indeed with a special regard to the honor and real welfare of the profession, it may be said that this is dubious business for them to be engaged in.

Lawyers profess to be
"officers of the court."

They have had much to say, properly enough, about the need of observing the laws and keeping the courts inviolate. By a strict construction, aren't legal ethics pretty deeply involved here?

SKY-RAMBLING

Miss Earhart's stories, written during stops on her flight around the world, leave much untold. There was the fourth leg of the journey which took her over her first equatorial jungles.
She tells how they crossed 940 miles of jungle and 370 miles of water, with only one possible stop between Paramirabo and Fortaleza, Brazil. It all added up to "a long but interesting day."

It would have been longer and possibly more than interesting if anything had gone wrong with the plane.
But all was well, and the Fortaleza landing field appeared at the proper time
"just where it should be according to the maps."

That implies very nice navigating on the part of Capt. Noonan and good flying on the part of Pilot Earhart.

There is something appealing to the travel lover in this particular air jaunt.
It is not a race against time or against any other plane and crew. It isn't even trailblazing for future commercial routes. It is just an air cruise over regions new to the flyer and a route difficult enough to require alertness and skill. The aviators wait when the weather is bad and move along gratefully when conditions are right. Most people take such rambling vacations in the family car. Some do it on their own boats, exploring lakes and islands. Will there be any in the near future who go wandering over the earth in their own airplanes as Miss Earhart is doing now and as the Lind-berghs did last spring?

SIGHTS AND SIGHTSEERS

(Copyright, 1937, Edgar A. Guest)

A fascinating thing about holiday traffic, or week-end traffic, is that it always goes in all directions. The cities and towns seem to empty themselves into the country, but the people from the country keep a steady stream of traffic pouring into the cities and towns.
Then, at the end of the day or the week-end, the process is reversed and everybody goes back to the place from which he started.

There are exceptions, of course. Many people stay at home and enjoy their own gardens and porches and are thankful they don't have to get out in the crowds. It's a good thing, too, or there wouldn't be

BIG PAN AMERICAN EXPOSITION OPENED GATES TO PUBLIC

COLORFUL PARADE PRECEDES UNLOCKING OF GATES OF GLITTERING SHOW

DALLAS, June 12.—(AP)—Twenty-one pretty maidens twisted keys in a great golden lock today and the gates of the Pan American Exposition swung open to the world.

Thoroughly renovated and refurbished in a costly spring cleaning, last year's Centennial celebration bowed in encore, this time to the Latins of the Western Hemisphere.

The big show attempted to match the pomp and pageantry of a coronation in opening ceremonies.

ALLRED'S ATTITUDE ON SOIL CONSERVATION AND GAMBLING DRAWING CONSIDERABLE FIRE

AUSTIN, June 12.—(AP)—Governor Allred's attitudes on gambling and a bill to establish soil conservation in Texas have drawn fire from two sources.

President Milburn McCarty of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce denounced the governor's veto of the state-wide conservation program bill, passed at the recent regular session of the legislature. In a statement last night McCarty said:

"The governor in vetoing the conservation act in our opinion has deprived the farmers and ranchmen of Texas of a most practical means of attacking the soil and water conservation problems. We propose to continue campaigning and agitating for this constructive legislation."

The West Texas chamber sponsored the conservation bill. Allred vetoed it partly on grounds Secretary of Agriculture Wallace advised him the bill probably would not meet federal requirements.

In Houston Father Thomas A. Carmel of Dickinson, Catholic leader of Galveston county mainland, asked in an open letter "Why can't the state use some practical judgment in dealing with the (gambling) situation?" He urged Allred to leave gambling to local regulation. "Force will not succeed," he said.

The governor in vetoing the conservation act in our opinion has deprived the farmers and ranchmen of Texas of a most practical means of attacking the soil and water conservation problems. We propose to continue campaigning and agitating for this constructive legislation."

The West Texas chamber sponsored the conservation bill. Allred pointed out the wonders of Texas and the show was on.

Inside the 187-acre park visitors found what the Exposition claims is $25,000,000 worth of interesting items.

Much was spent on exhibits, principally from the Pan American countries; at the Pan American Casino and "The Road to Rio" stars of the amusement world entertained; under the flags of all nations along "La Rambla"—Spanish for midway—peep shows abounded on the carnival.

Connally Main Speaker. Senator Connally, principal speaker of the day's several programs, prophesied "A greater, nobler and more splendid" future for Pan America, to be achieved through international anity, mutual regard, peace and profitable intercourse between nations.

"Texas welcomes Pan America without vulgar boasting," he said. "We want to acquaint you with Greater Texas."

Riding with him along the Avenue Pan American to the Hall of State where he made his address, were dignitaries from over the Western Hemisphere: Enrique Pawling, representing President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico; Frank L. McNey, director general of the Exposition; Dr. Gonzalo Carrias, C. Honduran consul-general in New York; P. N. De Abreu, Brazilian consul-general at New Orleans, and others.

Shows in Preview.

Entertainment paraded before the public in a preview last night of "The Road to Rio" the Pan American Casino show and the peep shows the latter viewed closely by censors mindful that the city fathers said they intended to curb at least to some extent the liberal tendencies of last year's show.

Miss Ethel Randall, city welfare director, conferred with managers and obtained promises of "clean, decent entertainment."

"We expect to ban all indecent displays of nudity and vulgarity," she said.

Besides routine exhibits and amusement features, the Exposition is sponsoring important live-stock shows and a sports program of vast proportions.

The Pan American games, beginning July 15, will bring a host of track and field stars of world renown; automobile and foot races, with large prizes, have been programmed for the fair, while big 32 football games, many of inter-collegiate importance, to the vast Cotton Bowl.

Communities Must Give 40 Per Cent Get Federal Cash

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP)—The senate appropriations committee voted today to write into the $1,500,000,000 relief bill a provisinal requirement that local communities supply 40 per cent of the cost of non-federal projects.

Before the vote, Harry L. Hopkins, WPA administrator, had opposed at a closed-door hearing of nearly three hours such limitation on his relief spending authority.

The 40 per cent clause, offered by Senator Byrnes (D-S.C.) as an amendment to the relief measure as it passed the house, won by a 13 to 10 vote.

The amendment would require states, cities, counties and other local communities, to provide 40 per cent of the cost unless they could show they were unable.

In that event the president would be authorized to accept lesser contributions.

MORE DIFFICULTY TO FACE STATE LIQUOR LAW VIOLATORS

INSPECTORS TO BE GIVEN FULL POLICE POWERS BEGINNING SEPTEMBER 1

AUSTIN, June 14.—(AP)—Things are going to be difficult for state liquor law violators after September 1 under the new regulatory act.

Inspectors, now denied the privilege of carrying fire arms, will be given full powers of peace officers at the discretion of the liquor board, for one thing.

Another is they will be permitted to use search warrants, in drafting the new law, effective Sept. 1 the legislators took into consideration court decisions, federal regulations and knowledge gained from 18 months experience in enforcement.

The board will be given the power to adopt a standard of purity, quality and identity of all liquors, including wines, and rules governing their labeling and advertising.

The privilege of re-bottling wine was taken away from retailers, wholesalers or others desiring to engage in this business will be required to buy a $150 permit.

Bonded public warehouse permits were raised to $100 but the $50 storage fee was eliminated.

Physicians will not be required to obtain permits to write prescriptions for liquor.

The legislature decreed it would be unlawful for any person to have an interest in more than five package store permits, a provision designed to prevent corporations owning a large number of stores.

All beer licenses, of which there are approximately 13,000, will be given to the state instead of to the individual instead of county tax collectors.

The procedure of applying to the county judge, obtaining an authorization from him and paying the annual fee remains unchanged.

Any person making a false statement or misrepresentation is an application for permit or license will be deemed guilty of a felony.

The manufacture of wine from dried fruits, grapes or berries is prohibited by a penal provision.

Uniform regulations governing the hours and days of closing by dealers were provided. All will be required to close their places of business and refrain from selling beer, wine or whisky on general primary and general election days only and be required to close from midnight to 7 a. m. each day and all day Sunday.

FARMER MUST ENTER BUSINESS WORLD IN EARNEST AS RESULT OF NEW AGRICULTURAL BILLS

WASHINGTON, June 12.—(AP)—An Encyclopedia of business terms, textbook on economics, a sharp pencil and plenty of paper are taking places beside the plow, tractor and harvester as essential tools for the farmer.

Legislation pending before Congress on agricultural profits makes frequent use of them.

Several bills, for instance, would require the farmer—if he desired to keep abreast of things—to be something of a cost accountant.

These measures are designed to establish farm prices that would give the operator his cost of production. A familiarity with an "unfair agricultural practice."

For example, the sale of a commodity in excess of a quota allotted the individual farmer would bring penalty taxes and fine.

This same measure would require the farmer to be a good bookkeeper. Failure to produce proof of his acreage, storage and marketing of commodities in the form of records, marketing cards, storage receipts and the like would make him liable to a fine up to $100.

Congressmen supporting the measure said, however, that these new tools are not being forced on the farmer. He's taking them up himself. The legislation making use of them has been written for the most part by farmers' organizations.

In the words of an agricultural spokesman, "farmers are beginning to recognize that farms should be operated as business units."

After interrogation the negroes were transferred to county authorities.

The following statement on anterior poliomyelitis or infantile paralysis was prepared and publication authorized by Drs. Shell and Burnett:

"The disease is spread to some extent by ordinary contact with patients or those associated with the sick, but largely by practically indiscriminate contact with the general population. Relative few cases can be directly traced to infection from any pre-existing case. Isolation of patients for a period of three weeks is usually sufficient, and isolation from visitors has a further value in aiding more complete immobilization of the patient, thereby preventing transmission of the disease.

"The facts indicate that the country with the oldest judges have the best records in the disposition of business. It follows, therefore, that since there are comparatively few good judges in service and these are among the most efficient in the bench, the age of the judges does not make necessary an increase of personnel to handle the business of the courts."

They described the bill as "totally inadequate" to meet any of the other objectives of the president denying that it would relieve congestion in the courts.

"The facts indicate that the country with the oldest judges have the best records in the disposition of business. It follows, therefore, that since there are comparatively few good judges in service and these are among the most efficient in the bench, the age of the judges does not make necessary an increase of personnel to handle the business of the courts."

The report turned to the president's argument for the "infusion of new blood" and the "raise up" unpermitted obstacles to the "constant and consistent" operation of that principle."

It argued that once the new judges were appointed and had grown old on the court, they could not be replaced except by a new law further expanding the court or by a constitutional amendment.

Praising the checks and balances of the American system of government, the majority aid is immorally more important than the immediate adoption of any legislation however beneficial.

"If we yield to the temptation now to lay the lash upon the court, we are only teaching others how to apply it to ourselves and to the people when the occasion seems to warrant."

The committee majority analyzed past cases, claiming the size of the court, and added that "this bill is an invasion of judicial power such as has never before been attempted in this country."

"This is the first time in the history of our country," it added, "that a proposal to alter the decisions of the court by enlarging its personnel has been so boldly made. Let us meet it. Let us now set a salutary precedent that will never be violated."

WASHINGTON, June 14.—(AP)—A formal committee report opposing enactment of the Roosevelt court bill opened the way today for senate debate over the hotly contested measure.

Senator King (D-Utah), head of the judiciary sub-committee of three which drafted the report, was designated to present it to the senate at noon, eastern standard time.

Under senate rules, any member can call up the bill for debate at any time. There has been no indication, however, that it would be brought up on the floor immediately.

Some weeks ago administration supporters confidently claimed that the bill would pass the house. Recently, however, there has been talk of compromise.

"It violates all precedents in the history of our government and would in itself be a dangerous precedent for the future.

AS YOU GROW OLD.

Stimulate! Stimulate! As you grow older it becomes more and more necessary to stimulate the skin and the delicate muscles which make it retain its contours. Miss Forbes tell you how. The older you grow, the more you must rest. When you are young, you can afford to look tired. A little fatigue is even becoming to youth; it gives it delicacy and pathos. But towards middle age it merely means a haggard expression. So, as the years go on, avoid fatigue. And brace up those weakening muscles as well.

Newspaper Advertising Rings the Bell

Advertising, in its simplest analysis, is the business of reaching and influencing the mass mind. Whether it deals with food or fountain pens, cosmetics or automobiles, its primary objective is to implant certain definite ideas in the minds of the public.

"Advertising creates and changes this foundation of all popular action, public sentiment, or public opinion. It is the most potent influence in adopting and changing the habits and modes of life, affecting what we eat, what we wear, and the work and play of the whole Nation. Formerly it was an axiom that competition was the life of trade. Under the methods of the present day it would seem to be more appropriate to say that advertising is the life of trade."—President Calvin Coolidge.

Roger W. Babson, statistician in a recent copyrighted article said "Advertising space in the newspapers is the very best investment a business firm can make."

America's market experts claim that "the time to advertise is all the time; the place is in the newspapers. Concentration of attack through the newspaper is the best guaranty of winning consumer acceptance."

You do not have to build an audience for newspaper advertising. The audience is there. It is constant, attentive and responsive. It is definite as to size. If it's in the newspaper the public will see it.

The newspaper is, and has been, very much with us. It is an every-day occurrence. It is here today. It will be here tomorrow and for countless tomorrows following. It is easy enough for the advertising profession . . . a craft which is constantly seeking the extraordinary rather than the ordinary, readily to appreciate the value of newspaper advertising.

The newspaper surpasses all other media in the first requirement of advertising . . . namely, that of reaching and influencing the mass mind. For a correct and just appraisal of newspapers, it is necessary to consider the newspaper as a human document . . . to examine and analyze the extent to which it fits into people's daily lives . . . to measure the degree to which it penetrates the mass mind. James Stephens in his book "The Crock of Gold" makes the statement: ". . . for hunger and love and curiosity are the three great impelling forces of life."

"From earliest times man has been driven on by the need of satisfying hunger "of the belly kind." He has been driven on by the hunger of the heart, and likewise by that hunger of the mind . . . the desire to know. Ever since he has been articulate, through all ages and areas, man has continuously put to his fellow man the equivalent of this question, "What d'ye know?"

Today there is just one agency dedicated primarily to the answering of this question. There is only one agency whose first and foremost purpose is that of appeasing man's appetite for news . . . the newspaper.

Advertising in the newspaper starts more people to thinking than any other media of public contact. The newspaper gives the public buying ideas. It is estimated that 94 per cent of newspaper readers read the advertisements. Newspaper advertising is trained to meet the lower-selling-cost demand of the hour by turning invested capital faster than ever before, with profit on each turn.

Everybody that can Read, Reads the Newspaper

The newspaper has something of interest for every one. The newspaper is an integral part of people's daily lives, for they turn to it daily and would be lost without it.

The newspaper is basic to their lives, and has the eye appeal. It is all things to all people, their informant, their instructor, their guide, their counsellor, their authority and the public's friend. It takes the newspaper to put an idea over.

When one appreciates the multiplicity of service which newspapers perform for the public—when it is appreciated how heavily people rely on their newspapers, the extent to which they turn voluntarily to them for one reason or another—it is not hard to understand why the newspaper enjoys a more direct, more regular and more penetrating contact with the mass mind than any other medium. It is not hard to understand why the newspaper surpasses all other agencies in the job of giving people ideas. Hardly a day passes which does not see some large congregation of the public to witness an event which if not sponsored by, has been promoted and exploited largely by newspapers.

Newspapers are, in the main, the voice of the masses. They circulate and flourish where people are located.

Early in life the public acquires the first reading habit—the habit of reading the newspaper.

The newspaper reaches out and takes hold of us in childhood. Our interest at first is centered on the comics. We soon learn that these same characters are doing their stuff in the daily issues of our newspapers. The newspaper then becomes an every day habit with us. As we grow older, and our field of interests broadens, the newspaper is there to serve each of these expanding interests—the world of sports—local news—political news—etc. The habit of reading the newspaper gets us early in life. Its hold on us increases through adolescence and youth, and maturity finds most of us irretrievably addicted to it.

Reading a newspaper, therefore, is one of our oldest and most firmly established habits. It is a habit for which the American public invests more than $414,000,000 a year. It is a habit that expresses itself in the jingle of small coins—2c here, 3c there—a nickel, a dime—but when these small coins are totaled up over the period of a year they spell the sum of $414,000,000. This is more than five times the amount which the American public spends during a year for all other media.

Here is one evidence of how heavily the American public depends on its newspapers. In this age our knowledge consists largely of what we read. The newspaper constitutes the vast majority of America's reading matter. It is from the newspaper that we acquire a great portion of our knowledge—most of our ideas.

The newspaper does more than report. Merely to tell people what has happened is not enough today. People want to know more than just this. Why did it happen? What's back of it all? What is it likely to lead to? What are the implications? The newspaper, therefore, can not stop with mere reporting. It must interpret also. Through its editorials, photographic service and political cartoons, the newspaper interprets the news. It sums up. It crystallizes. It clarifies. Because of this—because the public has been in the habit of turning regularly to its newspapers for such interpretation and crystallization—the newspaper, more than any other agency, molds public opinion. It instills ideas.

In this connection, it must be remembered also that the newspaper is perhaps the public's most constant and dependable defender. It is the newspaper which is continuously championing the interests of its community. It is the newspaper which ferrets out corruption and graft, publicizes it, and endeavors to drive it out of office. It is the newspaper which originates programs of civic improvement. It is the newspaper which agitates and fights for the betterment of its community and its people.
